Christmas Street Party a celebration of free family festive fun

Gladstone's CBD precinct will be transformed by a touch of Christmas magic on Sunday (December 2) for the annual Christmas Street Party.

Gladstone Region Mayor Matt Burnett said excitement was building for the highly anticipated annual afternoon of festive fun.

"The Street Party continues to grow each year, and we are expecting this year to be one of the biggest and brightest," Councillor Burnett said.

"Council have made sure all of the annual favourites are included, like face painting, a jumping castle and arts and craft, but we also have some festive surprises on the night.

"We invite all members of the community to come along and fill the street with Christmas cheer."

The region's nine-metre Christmas Tree will take pride of place in Library Square, with the official lighting of the tree by Mayor Burnett on sunset.

"The Street Party is one of the many great activities Council have on during the lead up to Christmas," Cr Burnett said

"It's an ideal place for families and friends to get together.

"There will be plenty of food and market stalls lining the street, so you can leave well-fed and with gifts to put under the Christmas tree."

To ensure the safety of those attending the event, a section of Goondoon St, from Roseberry Street to Yarroon Street will be closed on the day from 7am until 9pm.
