G/1. MAYORAL STATEMENT OF CURRENT ISSUES

Thank you to everyone that attended the National Volunteers Week events. Council hosted some events and there were also a number of other community organisations that had events around the region.

It's a wonderful week (National Volunteers Week). On Monday 19 May 2025 we had a breakfast at the Gladstone Bowls Club which myself and several other Councillors attended. Councillor Mellissa Holzheimer spoke at the event. On Wednesday 21 May 2025, we had another breakfast at the Tannum Sands Hotel and on Friday 23 May 2025 we went to Agnes Water at Drift & Wood at the Sandcastles Resort. Thank you very much to everyone who attended and thank you very much to all those volunteers that donate their time and passion to all the activities around our region.

We also hosted the Pest Animal and Weeds Symposium at the Gladstone Entertainment and Convention Centre (GECC). I hear that it was very interesting, with Councillor Chris Cameron attending and opening the event. Thank you very much for attending on our behalf Cr Cameron. I understand that the town was booked out as a result of this and other events in the region.

We have continued to host our community forums with the last two weeks seeing us in Benaraby. Thank you to the Councillors and Officers who attended. Then on that weekend, Friday 23 May to Sunday 25 May 2025, the region was being entertained by wonderful events. One of those was the 1770 Festival and another, the Old Station Air Show, which were also attended by a number of Councillors. Again, congratulations to all the volunteers and event organisers. It was a wonderful weekend with something for everyone in the Gladstone Region. For all those that think that there is nothing to do in the region, I hope you will visit our events page and have a look at the list of events that we hold in the Gladstone Region. Not just Council events but all the other organisations that dedicate their time to make our place a wonderful and livable region.

On the 25 May we had the SES Awards Ceremony. Cr Cameron attended and again, thank you very much for that. National Reconciliation Week finished yesterday (Monday 2 June 2025), so we had a number of events around the region. I would like to acknowledge our traditional owners of the land on which we meet today. I hope you had a very insightful reconciliation week and similarly, for all those that are not from an indigenous background, it was an opportunity to reflect and learn about our history.

From Tuesday 27 May 2025 to Thursday 29 May 2025, I, along with some of our Officers, attended the Local Government Association Disaster Management Conference in Brisbane which was well attended. There were a lot of connections and learnings had. Thank you to Emma (Disaster Response Specialist), who provided a presentation on the work that she has been doing with our Team on Tsunami preparedness. It was one of the best presentations at the conference. It was one of the first presentations of this type on this side of the country and was taken from learnings from Western Australia. Congratulations to Emma and the Team.

On the 30 May 2025, we also had the Queensland Cancer Council's Biggest Morning Tea with Cr Cameron again attending. Councillors have been attending lots of different events. I mentioned the 1770 Festival, Councillor Leanne Patrick attended the opening of an Arts Show and Councillor Simon McClintock spoke at the Old Station Air Show with lots of other things happening around the region.

EcoFest was held on the Sunday 1 June 2025 and I attended for half of the morning. Cr Cameron helped with MCing. It was amazing and one of my favourite events. Congratulations to our Team and everyone who attended and was part of it. It felt like a wonderful community event. There was something for everyone from little kids to our elderly population. We had lots of contributions from all our teams at Council. Everyone was so happy and it was not necessarily a place that you go to spend money consuming, it was about experiencing nature and learning about our environment. Thank you to all the sponsors and everyone that had a stall there and the food vendors.

Upcoming events in the next two weeks, I won't mention all of them, but I would like to highlight some. On the Saturday 7 June 2025, we have the Rainbow on the Reef Pride Festival and all those events that go with it. Please make sure you go and have some fun. There are a few fringe events around the Festival and make sure you engage with our queer community, which is proud, alive and well in our region. On the following day on Sunday 8 June 2025, we have the 'Picnic in the Precinct', at the Philip Street Communities and Families Precinct. Please make sure you take a look at the activities and attend if you are available. It is really great weather to attend some of these events. On Saturday 14 June we have the Agnes Water First Five Forever Fun Day and Welcome to the Region Morning Tea. First Five Forever is a State Government Program that has been run by our libraries for many years which I believe is focused on literacy in the first five years of our children's lives. Please consider attending some of these events and the many others that happen around the region.

Council General Meeting Report – Reflections on National Volunteer Week Events

Presented by: Cr Leanne Patrick

Date: General Meeting – 3rd of June 2025

I'd like to take a moment to reflect on the recent events held across our region during National Volunteer Week, where I had the privilege of attending several of our community breakfasts and other recognition events. These gatherings were not only heartfelt and enjoyable but also deeply inspiring, as they highlighted the invaluable contributions of volunteers from all walks of life.

This year, we turned our attention to the theme for 2025: "Connecting Communities." It's a fitting theme that truly captures the essence of what volunteering does best—bringing people together. Whether it's through a simple act of kindness, a committed service to a local cause, or a quiet presence offering support in times of crisis, volunteers are the threads that help weave the fabric of a connected and compassionate community.

On a personal note, I consider it an incredible privilege to volunteer. It's an experience that offers so much more than we often expect—it gives us purpose, connection, and a deeper understanding of the challenges and strengths within our community. I often say that volunteering is the quiet engine behind some of our region's most impactful outcomes.

From supporting our seniors, to mentoring young people, to helping at cultural and sporting events—volunteers are there, quietly making a difference.

Here in Queensland, the statistics tell an impressive story:

- In 2023 alone, volunteering contributed $117.8 billion to the state's economy.
- That's equivalent to over 113,000 full-time jobs, with a direct value of $31.3 billion.

But beyond the numbers, the benefits of volunteering are profound:

- Strengthening Regional Areas: Volunteer-led services such as the Rural Fire Brigades, SES, and community transport are essential to the safety and wellbeing of regional Queensland.
- Bridging Gaps: Volunteering connects communities across generational, cultural, and socio-economic divides, addressing disadvantage and building unity.
- Powering Events: Our festivals, cultural celebrations, and sporting carnivals simply wouldn't happen without the dedication of volunteers.
- Boosting Resilience: Volunteers are often at the heart of our disaster response, aged care, mental health, and social support systems, especially in our more remote communities.
- Fostering Inclusion: Volunteering reduces social isolation, promotes cross-cultural understanding, and supports the integration of migrants and refugees.
- Improving Mental Health: There is strong evidence linking regular volunteering with reduced stress, lower rates of depression, and greater overall happiness.

- Supporting Growth: It offers skill development and personal growth opportunities, particularly for young people, job seekers, and retirees looking to remain engaged and purposeful.

No matter how large or small the contribution may be, every act of volunteering counts. Each volunteer is, in their own way, helping to shape a stronger, kinder, and more connected region.

In closing, I'd like to express my deepest thanks to every volunteer in our community. You are seen. You are valued. And you are essential.

I'd also like to thank our team at Council and our partners and venues who helped organise and host this year's Volunteer Week events.

Councillor Report - Gladstone Regional Council General Meeting Tuesday 3rd of June 2025.

Supporting Small Business – A Wrap-Up from the 2025 Small Business Friendly Conference

I recently had the opportunity to represent Gladstone Regional Council at the 2025 Small Business Friendly Conference, hosted by the Queensland Small Business Commissioner in Brisbane. It was a fantastic two-day event full of practical ideas, shared success stories, and big conversations about how councils and communities can better support local small businesses.

I was also proud to be joined by a great local crew – Samantha Devers President GCCI and Allison Perry (Ally) Manager of GCCI from the Gladstone Chamber of Commerce and Industry Inc., along with Madisyn Richards, Kristy Marks, and our CEO Leisa Dowling from Gladstone Regional Council. It was a great show of unity between Council, our business sector, and community leaders – all working together with a shared goal of helping our small businesses thrive.

Day One – Getting Stuck In

Day one was very hands-on – not just sitting and listening, but actively working together on key areas where we can make a difference.

We rolled up our sleeves and tackled five focus areas:

1. Uplift Small Business capability (Helping Small Businesses Build Their Skills)
Supporting local businesses to grow through training, digital tools, and mentoring.
2. Foster Thriving Ecosystems (Creating Stronger Business Communities)
Helping businesses feel connected and supported through local networks.
3. Promotion of Vibrant Economics
Finding ways to bring energy back to our streets through events, planning, and local promotion.
4. Enable Development and success.
5. Working together for Small Business Building strong partnerships between councils, chambers, community groups, and business owners.

Day Two – Stories and Ideas from Across Queensland

The second day brought together people from all over the state to share their experiences and ideas. Some highlights for me:

- “Local Legends” Keynote – This reminded us that small businesses succeed when locals support each other and work together for shared goals.
- “Beyond Rates, Roads, and Rubbish” – This session highlighted how councils, especially in remote and regional areas, are stepping up creatively to help their local economies grow.

- “Nine Simple Hacks” – A fun and practical talk on how small businesses can survive and thrive by being resourceful, connected, and community-focused.

A New Look for the Small Business Friendly Program

One of the key announcements from the event was an exciting update to the Small Business Friendly (SBF) Program.

After lots of feedback from councils and members (including Gladstone!), the old Charter has been replaced with a more practical and modern Small Business Friendly Commitment. It’s all about setting clear expectations, improving collaboration, and staying accountable as we work to better support our small businesses.

Gladstone Regional Council is already a proud SBF member, but we’re now being invited to reconfirm our commitment by signing the updated document. Doing so will reinforce our dedication to small business and align with our goals to be a leader in this space.

Small businesses are the heart of our region. They create jobs, support local events, and help give our towns their unique character. Making sure they feel heard, connected, and supported is key.

The conference gave us some great tools and ideas – and reminded us that we’re all in this together.

If you’re a local business owner and have thoughts, questions, or ideas on how we can keep building a strong business community here in Gladstone – I’d love to hear from you.

Warm regards,
Leanne Patrick

Council General Meeting Report – 2025 1770 Art Show & Quilters Exhibition

Presented by: Cr Leanne Patrick

Date: 3rd of June 2025

I would like to take this opportunity to reflect on the remarkable success of the 2025 1770 Art Show and Quilters Exhibition—two vibrant celebrations of creativity, talent, and community spirit that once again demonstrated the incredible cultural richness of our region.

The 1770 Art Show drew an outstanding 244 entries across a diverse range of categories, showcasing the depth and breadth of artistic talent that exists within our community and beyond. This event continues to grow each year, thanks to the passionate leadership of Prue, President of the 1770 Art Show Committee, and the dedicated team of volunteers and supporters who bring it all together.

Their tireless work in curating, organising, and delivering an event of such high calibre deserves our heartfelt thanks and congratulations.

The show's theme, inspired by the quote "The purpose of art is to wash away the dust of daily life," was powerfully reflected across entries that provoked thought, inspired imagination, and celebrated the connection between art and environment.

Please join me in congratulating the winners of this year's categories:

- Easel Work: Ping Carlyon
- Works on Paper: Jo Williams
- Three Dimensional & Fibre Works: Christine Holden for "There's Plastics in the Water"
- Digital Works: Kai Price for "The Sun"
- High School Winner: Teylah Rowlands for "Red-Footed Bootie"
- Primary School Winner: Lincoln Bergamashi for "Life with Monsters"
- Local Artist Award: Katie McAuliffe for "The Dance" (acrylic on canvas)
- Emerging Artist: Alix O'Neil for "Surface Tension"
- Marine Environment Award: Jen Hollstein for "Neptune's Delusion"
- Hanger's Choice Award: Kairen Kerr
- Second Overall: Dan Carlyon for "Afraid? Knot!" – a stunning recycled rope and stainless steel piece
- Overall Winner: Marlies Oakley for her breathtaking hand-cut collage installation "Australian Story"

The companion Quilters Exhibition was equally impressive. It offered a heartfelt and technically brilliant showcase of textile artistry, with this year's Quilters Award going to Letitia Quirk for her delicate hand-stitched work titled "Welcome to My Garden."

Events like these are about more than showcasing talent—they bring people together, celebrate creativity in all its forms, and help foster a stronger sense of identity and pride in our region. They also align perfectly with the 2025 Volunteering Week theme, "Connecting"

Communities,” as these shows would not exist without the commitment and collaboration of artists, volunteers, sponsors, and organisers.

In closing, I extend sincere congratulations to all participating artists, and to each of the winners whose works stood out in a field of exceptional quality. Most of all, I want to acknowledge Prue and the 1770 Art Show Committee for delivering an event that continues to inspire, elevate, and connect our creative community.
